

Dear Next Year's Class,

I wish that I knew then that night classes are not a good idea. When you do assigned readings, don't wait till the last minute to do them. They take a long time to finish. When writing, try not to over-analyze the question and remember to cite everything properly. Actually do the readings because she gives quizzes and there are in class discussions which both contribute to your participation grade. When reading Mountains Beyond Mountains, pay attention to Creole terminology. Don't forget to check Blackboard and send your papers that way as well. Also, check your grades on Blackboard as well.

GOOD LUCK!

Sincerely,

Lindsay Erica Vicki Allison
